Local 1271 rejects university plan to shorten summer work schedule

by Amy Zurawski

Eastern's university employees recently rejected a proposal from university officials to switch from a five-day work week to a four and one-half day work week during the 1984 summer session, a union official said.

Carol Oggero, president of American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees local 1271, said the proposal would not be accepted by the union because it "excluded a larger portion of covered employees and afforded no guarantee of two and one-half consecutive days off."

The university's proposal stated that from May 14 through Aug. 24 civil service employees will work Monday through Thursday from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. with 45 minutes for lunch.

Employees would also work four and one-half hours Friday. Hours would be based on the operational needs of the university.

In addition, library, computer services, Tarble Arts Center, registration, security, switchboard, heating plant and Academic Assistance Center employees would not work under the four and a half-day work schedule June 1 through July 6. The exclusion was necessary because some services must remain open during times when the four-day summer classes are not in session.

Eastern President Stanley Rives said declined to offer comment concerning the issue.

Personnel Director Ed Sawtelle said the university was attempting "to accommodate its employees by offering them a four and one-half day week but the union did not think this was acceptable."

The university's operational needs also required consideration during the bargaining efforts, he added. The university could not have made a four-day work week schedule for the 1984 summer session.

"After a long study by department heads, the university decided that all the work that needed to be done could not have been completed in four days," he added.

He noted that a four-day work week could be considered for the 1985 summer session.

Oggero said, "The union employees will retain their regular five day schedule unless the university opts to go to a four-day work week."

Governor proposes school funds hike

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Governor Thompson says the 2.9 percent spending increase he proposed Wednesday for elementary and high schools represents a commitment to the state's schoolchildren. But educators denounced the plan, calling it "disappointing, disastrous and ludicrous."

Thompson's budget outlined plans for a three-year "Contract for Educational Excellence" that ties a $250 million boost in funding for school programs to "reform."

"I don't believe we'll get reform of the system without the carrot of the dollar," Thompson told reporters earlier.

The overall budget proposal calls for the state to spend $2.21 billion on elementary and secondary schools during the fiscal year beginning July 1. That's an increase of $61 million from the state's general treasury, or 2.8 percent, over current spending.

"This budget lays down a challenge to reform our educational system so our children will have a better chance at the future," Thompson said during his address to lawmakers.

But state School Superintendent Donald Gill said the budget was "disappointing and it's discouraging."

The state Board of Education had requested a $475 million increase, or 22 percent, far short of what Thompson offered.

"I think it absolutely reflects an insensitivity on the part of the leadership of state government to the needs of elementary and secondary education," Gill said.

"It is small consolation to offer schools a $250 million increase over the next three years after many school programs have been gutted by state neglect," he said.

Leaders of the state's teachers unions also criticized the plan.

"This budget is ludicrous, it focuses on misplaced priorities," said Reg Weaver, president of the Illinois Education Association.

Forum focus: state industry revitalization

by Kevin McDermott and Joe Pepp

Revitalizing business in Illinois was the major focus of a political forum held Wednesday between the four state representative candidates from the 106th legislative district.

The forum, conducted in Booth Library Lecture Hall, featured Republican primary candidates Larry Stoever and Mike Weaver from Charleston and Democratic primary candidates David Lee Weir of Charleston and Robert Webb of Mattoon.

All four candidates concentrated mainly on the business climate in Illinois and its need for revitalization, and had surprisingly similar opinions as to how it should be done.

Stoever, who is the former Charleston city planner, said Illinois "has not fared very well" in the national economic recovery.

"In 1982, we (Illinois) were ranked 42 out of 48 states in terms of business climate, and the business climate is not getting any better," Stoever said.

Weaver, an Eastern business instructor, agreed, saying, "about 80 percent of the jobs we have come from small businesses."

Webb, who recently quit as president of Lake Land College in Mattoon, blamed the poor business climate in Illinois on a lack of industrial policy.

"Illinois is one of the few industrial states that has no industrial policy," Webb said, adding that, if elected, he would advocate a state-wide developmental industrial program.

Weir, a counselor at Eastern who lost a 1982 general assembly bid, said he also believes Illinois business is in trouble, and that he would work for "genuine economic recovery" if elected.

"Ronald Reagan says that the economic recovery is here," Weir said, adding, "I don't think that the economic recovery is here."

Stoever said he supports an elected Illinois Commerce Commission to revitalize Illinois business.

"The people of Illinois are fed up with the Illinois Commerce Commission," Stoever said. "It's time we had an elected commerce commission."

Weaver and Weir both agreed that an elected Commerce Commission could help revitalize Illinois business.

However, Webb disagreed, saying he doesn't believe an elected commission would make any difference in the business climate in Illinois.

About 40 people attended the lecture hall forum, which featured opening and closing statements by the candidates along with questions from an area media panel and the audience.

The candidates are vying for the seat which is being vacated by Republican Harry "Babe" Woodyard of Chrisman, who has decided to run for state representative in a different district.

New budget allows for growth

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Governor Thompson on Wednesday offered a $16.7 billion state budget that would allow slight growth in government programs despite expiration of the temporary income tax increase on June 30.

The spending plan for the fiscal year starting July 1 represents an increase of less than 2 percent over this year's budget and is based on Illinois continuing its slow emergence from the depths of recession.

"This is our first post-recession budget after four years of economic ordeal," Thompson told a joint session of the General Assembly. "It is decent, compassionate, and moves us ahead in funding our highest priorities—but doesn't let us slip in other areas."

The spending blueprint reflects Thompson's traditional emphasis on strong support for prisons, law enforcement and services for children and the elderly.

The Republican governor would provide small increases for the major areas of state spending, education and welfare—but not nearly enough to suit leading educators and some lawmakers.

The proposed $61 million boost in state spending for elementary and high schools was called "dangerously and shamefully low" by state School Superintendent Donald Gill.

Gill noted that only half the 2.8 percent increase would be for actual programs, with the rest earmarked for teachers' pensions.

"Such low funding of schools will deny for our children the quality of education which was demanded by our parents for us," he said.

Some Democrats predicted a challenge on education as lawmakers consider the budget over the next four months.

Although sounding generally upbeat about the economy, Thompson said questions linger about the strength of the nation's recovery from recession. He called the federal budget deficit "a worrisome thing."

Gunshots kill escaped convict

MARION, N.C.—One of two escaped Tennessee convicts who vowed not to be taken alive was shot and killed Wednesday in a gun battle with police after bloodhounds led officers to an abandoned house.

Ronald Lee Freeman, 41, a convicted double murderer, was killed by a shotgun blast and a state trooper was wounded in the confrontation, said Russ Edmonston, a spokesman for the state Department of Crime Control and Public Safety.

Police captured the other escaped convict, James Clegg, after an intense manhunt several hours following his partner's death.

"When they turned him over, he had two pistols on him, so apparently he was a pretty desperate fellow," Edmonston said.

Acid rain control plan approved

WASHINGTON—The Senate Environment Committee, resuming work on the Clean Air Act after a 19-month hiatus, voted Wednesday to press for an aggressive acid rain control program on the Senate floor despite threats of a filibuster.

The committee voted 14-2 for a program that would require the 31 Eastern States for reduce their emissions of sulfur dioxide by 10 million tons a year over the next 10 years.

Sulfur dioxide is a pollutant that results when sulfur-bearing coal is burned. Emissions from the Midwest are blamed by most scientists as a principal cause of acid rain in eastern Canada and New England.

Baker hopes for prayer approval

WASHINGTON—Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., said Wednesday he is "very hopeful" the Senate soon will approve a school prayer compromise endorsed by President Reagan, despite opponents' threats to block an early test vote.

Sen. Lowell Wiecker, R-Conn., the leading foe of a proposed constitutional amendment to permit officially sponsored prayer in public schools, held to his threat to prevent Senate vote on the compromise in the next few days.

"He's going to try to stop it, absolutely," said Sue Kennedy, a Wiecker aide.

The revised measure would forbid government authorities not only to compose a prayer but to designate the words to be recited, or even compel schools to set aside a prayer time.

Hart moving fast past Mondale

by the Associated Press

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill said Wednesday Walter Mondale, his personal choice for the Democratic presidential nod, underrated Gary Hart and will be in "real serious trouble" if he doesn't win half the primaries next week.

O'Neill said Mondale will have to "change his image" if he wants to overtake Hart, whom he called the front-runner.

If Mondale does poorly in the 11 "Super Tuesday" primaries and caucuses next week, "then he's in real serious trouble," O'Neill said. "He'll have to win, I'd say, at least half of those primaries next week or he looks pretty sad then."

Mondale, meanwhile, said Hart is weak on civil rights. Hart, acting like a front-runner, turned his aim away from Democratic rivals and accused President Reagan of trying to distract attention from huge budget deficits and "catastrophic failure" in foreign policy.

"That is what is behind the school prayer debate," Hart said of an administration push for a measure allowing prayer in public schools.

"We are going to be treated, if you can call it that, for the remainder of this year to a concerted effort by Ronald Reagan and this administration of the politics of distraction," said Hart, who won the non-binding Vermont presidential primary Tuesday for his third New England election triumph in eight days.

Alcohol may cause lung cancer

BOSTON (AP)—Men who drink the equivalent of one and one-half cans of beer a day, or more, are three times more likely than non-drinkers to get cancer of the rectum, according to a new study.

The research also found that consumers of wine and whiskey are more likely to get lung cancer, but gave no indication why.

Several studies have shown a link between alcohol use and cancer of the mouth and throat but the evidence associating booze with other kinds of cancer have been conflicting.

The American Cancer Society estimates that rectal cancer strikes about 40,000 people in the United States each year.

In the latest study, researchers surveyed 8,006 men to see whether their drinking habits were related to five different kinds of cancer.

"For three of the cancer sites—stomach, colon, and prostate—there was no evidence of a relation with alcohol consumption," they wrote. "For the other two—rectum and lung—there was a significant trend toward increasing rates with successively higher levels of alcohol consumption, suggesting a positive relation."

Publications Board approves editor recommendation

by Vicki Vass

After turning down the proposal a week ago, the Student Publications Board Wednesday approved a recommendation to split the 1984-5 term of editor in chief of The Daily Eastern News.

Under the recommendation from David Reed, publications adviser, junior Madeleine Doubek will serve as editor in chief for the fall semester and junior Maureen Foertsch will serve for the spring semester.

The action reversed the earlier decision after one of the board's members, who had originally opposed the measure, requested another meeting to reconsider the proposal.

At the board's Feb. 27 meeting, members voted to ask Reed to submit one candidate, instead of two, to serve as editor for the year.

Reed refused to accept the board's decision, and said he would appeal the decision to Eastern President Stanley Rives.

Publications Board Chairman Daniel Thornburgh sent a letter to Rives detailing the action, and told the board Wednesday that Rives wanted them to decide the issue when all members could be present.

Two board members were absent Feb. 27 due to bad weather conditions.

As a result of Rives' and member Brian Ormiston's requests, the board first voted down its original one-editor proposal 5-4, then, after an hour of discussion, approved Doubek and Foertsch by a 7-0-1 vote.

Before the approval, some board members expressed concern that the quality of the News could decline during the transition period between editors.

In addition, some board members said they were concerned that Doubek and Foertsch might encounter problems working together.

However, Reed said the editorship has been divided four times since the paper became a daily, and provided testimony showing that the split had not disrupted the editorial product, and had proved beneficial to the publication.

Board member Kim Ward agreed that both candidates were well qualified; however she said The Daily Eastern News is not just a learning experience.

The paper, she said, provides "a service to the students." She also said she was worried that the quality of the paper may decline.

Board member Jeff Scott said he was also concerned that the transitional period may be harmful to the paper's quality.

"Where people are worried there may be a problem and there is a chance something can go wrong, we should prevent it early," he said.

However, board member Bev Miller said the educational process is more important than the service to the student aspect.

Miller said with two editors, the "whole reporting staff," and not just the two serving as editor, would benefit from the "laboratory experience" that the News provides.

"You have very strong people" advising the paper, Miller said, "and I think we should follow good advice."

Rives requests AB's group budget recommendation

by Anne Ingles

Eastern President Stanley Rives has requested that the Apportionment Board Thursday hear fiscal year 1985 budget requests for Players, Art Board and campus radio station WELH, AB Chairman Jeff Hunt said.

AB will hold deliberations of the budget requests at the meeting, he said.

Hunt said he was informed by Union Area Head Bill Clark Monday that Rives wanted to review AB's budget recommendations for the groups by Friday.

Hunt added that Clark gave the impression Rives was going to begin transferring the funding of these groups to their respective departments rather than funding them with student fees.

Rives said Tuesday, "We don't know if we can or we can't. We are looking to see if we can make the transfers."

Rives said he wants to review the AB budget recommendations before making any decisions.

"We are considering what we can do at the present time. That's all I can say," he added.

Hunt said that after adjustments have been made to the budgets by the members, AB will vote to approve the three budget requests and send its recommendations to Rives' office Friday morning.

In 1981, AB recommended that seven AB-funded groups, including the Art Board, Players and WELH, be funded by their respective departments.

The transfers were begun by former Eastern President Dan Marvin; however, they were stopped because of reductions in the university budget.

Last semester Rives said that he planned to continue the transfers when funds became available to the departments.

The AB is scheduled to meet at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola room.

Enhancing intimacy focus of workshop

by Beth Lander

Ways of enhancing intimacy and talking about sexual experiences were discussed in the last part of a three-part couples workshop Tuesday.

During the workshop, sponsored by Eastern's Counseling Center, counselor Genie Lenihan stressed that enhancing intimacy and discussing sex is a "rewarding aspect of the relationship."

In an attempt to teach couples this method, Lenihan discussed how couples could learn to enjoy themselves, and enjoy each other.

Each person was asked to draw a picture of themselves at a determined age playing in their favorite way. Lenihan used this exercise to help couples analyze their playing quality.

"During leisure time, couples should learn to use the time together. Most people should reserve about five hours to play rather than (for) task and routine activities," she said.

The couples were then asked to determine three things:

- "Do I do anything now on a regular base that I enjoy?"
- "What can I change to get the experience that I got from my past playtime experience?"
- "How can I include my partner?"

"Teaching the partner something and maybe finding something each person may be equal at or something brand new may be tried," Lenihan suggested.

"The last thing about play are nicknames and use of banter or private jokes. (They) are a way of keeping couples together. Also, using playtime as a reward and reserving time for the favorite activity can re-energize you," she continued.

After the final play exercise, Lenihan began discussing sexual relationships.

"Some touching or being together in some way is a sexual relationship as a couple," Lenihan explained.

Lenihan gave the couples exercises that could help them determine their sexual values and creative play in conflict situations. "The important part of this exercise is what the couples don't associate with sex and what they like or may want to change," Lenihan noted.

Another exercise the couples participated in was the use of language in their relationship.

"We may feel awkward in using textbook words or street language for parts of the body," she said.

A form of brainstorming was used as a means of "learning the words already in each other's heads," Lenihan said. "This is a way of discovering language barriers when it comes to talking about sex."

Language benefits cannot be termed 'foreign'

Parlez-vous une langue etrangere? Si vous pouvez ce lire, vous pouvez probablement comprendre du Francais. Vous avez probablement profitez de sa connaissance d'un autre langue et culture.

TRANSLATION: Do you speak a foreign language? If you can read this, you can probably comprehend some French. Probably, you have also benefited from your knowledge of other languages and cultures.

Future arts and sciences majors could have benefited from this knowledge too, had the Arts and Sciences Curriculum Committee (ASCC) approved a one-year foreign language requirement Monday.

The committee should have passed some type of foreign language requirement, not simply because it will enhance students' understanding of foreign languages, but also because it will enhance their comprehension of English grammar, usage and syntax.

ASCC member and English instructor Bill Searle was right when he noted that the requirement would increase verbal as well as writing ability. Studying verb conjugation and sentence construction in a foreign language can help a student master those complexities in his own language.

Furthermore, requiring Eastern students to be exposed to a foreign language would make Eastern a prestigious leader in education; Reader's Digest reported in 1981 that only 8 percent of U.S. colleges and universities require a foreign language for admission.

Our students could join those at four other Illinois universities who are required to study the foreign languages of our competitive society.

One ASCC member argued that he was against the proposal because he believed it should be required only for those working toward a bachelor of arts degree.

However, foreign language study should be required of bachelor of science majors especially because it has been reported that science majors—and specifically chemistry majors—need the study to obtain certification by the American Chemistry Society.

Also, business majors working toward a bachelor of science degree need to learn a foreign language since many corporations are working in the international marketplace.

We would hope Eastern business majors would not make the same mistake Chevrolet did in Spanish-speaking countries where their Nova sedan was not selling because nova means "no go" in Spanish.

Other ASCC members said no go to the proposal because they were concerned about what campus department would compose and administer competency and proficiency tests.

Still others thought the costs of a foreign language regulation would be too expensive.

Certainly, these concerns are legitimate. But, they are details that could be worked out after such a requirement was passed. It would not seem to be too much trouble for either the foreign language department or the Testing Center to proctor such tests. And Eastern administrators would take on the responsibility of fighting for the funding needed to support a language standard.

The ASCC should have concerned themselves mainly with the academic issue at hand: whether students need to become familiar with a foreign language.

We believe that students of all majors should study a foreign language because America consists of people with a potpourri of heritages and cultures that are worth learning about. And one year is not too much to ask from students.

We also hope that College of Arts and Sciences dean Jon Laible's prediction that a new form of a foreign language proposal will be brought to the committee in the future rings true.

But for now we can only regretfully say, "Au revoir foreign language requirement. C'est la vie."

Your turn

No trouble here, thanks

Editor:

I have been a building service worker at this university for ten years, and most of that time has been spent in the residence halls. I enjoy being around the young people and find it a pleasure working for them.

All the students I have known have been thoughtful and considerate and highly intelligent. They do not deserve the criticism they get from the public, and I make it a point to tell people so.

The main point of this letter is regarding the new bathroom rules in the halls. We are told we must keep the students out of the bathrooms while we are cleaning them. The way I see it, the students are paying the rent on that bathroom when they pay their housing fee.

This is their home while they are here; therefore, they should be allowed to use their own bathroom whenever they need to. How would you like it if you were told you couldn't use the bathroom in your home except at specified times? No? I wouldn't like it either. Perhaps we should keep in mind that if the students were not here, we would all be looking for jobs—from President Rives all the way down to us building service workers. We need the students as much as they need us.

I've never had a problem with any student being in my way or preventing me from getting my work done. I'm willing to work around the students and their needs. If there's anyone who can't do this, he or she shouldn't be working in the halls.

Bowling over priorities

Editor:

After reading the articles in the paper regarding Eastern's bowling team and being a former member of the team, I would like to respond to Rick Bagley's letter to the editor.

I believe Bagley is missing the total concept. Is he going to college to obtain a degree or to polish up on his bowling skills?

An individual participating in any sport must realize that not only are there league rules and regulations, but the coach also has his rules and regulations. They can be as varied as a basketball coach telling his players they need a haircut to a bowling coach telling bowlers they need to maintain a certain GPA.

Bruce Schroeder was correct in stating that Harold Gray was a great coach. However, he failed to state that Mr. Gray is a very caring coach. He cares about the overall development of his bowlers.

Sure, he would like for all of them to be 200-average bowlers, but more importantly, he would rather they average at least 2.0 in the classroom.

In the past, it was a great honor to be a member of the bowling team. But you had to abide by the rules set up by the coach and administrative staff—no questions asked. If you couldn't score in the classroom, you didn't bowl on the team.

Bagley needs to list his priorities. They have a good bowling program at Vincennes—maybe he should transfer. Good luck Bagley; maybe you'll be on the pro tour some day. I sincerely hope you obtain your degree along the way because you cannot stay on the tour forever.

Snow removal melted?

Editor:

Snow removal at Eastern—is there such a thing?

For three days, we were up to our rear ends in snow. The sidewalks were covered with snow in places and a walk to class seemed like a hike up Mount Everest.

How long can it possibly take to get the snow off of the streets and parking lots on campus. The only way I got out was with the help of four guys pushing my car. What about the people that have to get out to go places. How long should they have to wait?

The assistant physical plant director said that they are plowing the commuter lots first. Why is this? We pay about $1,000 each semester to live on campus and you would think that some of that money would go toward snow removal.

The commuter's don't have to pay this. You would think they would want people to be able to get out before people being able to get in.

Dennis Vice

A close-minded staff?

Editor:

I am writing in response to your article last Wednesday about keeping the school open despite the severe weather.

President Stanley Rives said that Eastern is predominately a "resident school" and "about 70 percent of our students live in the residence halls or close to campus."

Well, Dr. Rives, that leaves about 3,000 students who don't live close to or on campus. I, for one, live on East Madison Street which is a three-mile drive for me to school. Even if I was able to get out of my garage, that would have been all I would have been able to do during the recent snowstorm.

I do not like to miss classes. I know from experience that in order to be effective in class you must not only have the notes, but you must be there in order to hear the instructor present them to the class. But I was unable to do this. I guess that's OK because I am part of the minority who is not privileged enough to live on campus.

If I am ever fortunate enough to get a job working in Eastern's higher level administration, I will be able to tell my friends in Wisconsin that despite the bad weather, Eastern has only closed twice in its history. For this I must say thank you to Dr. Rives and the administration for providing this most valuable opportunity.

U.S. to send delegate to Vatican

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate on Wednesday named the first U.S. ambassador to the Vatican in more than a century, approving President Reagan's nomination of millionaire real estate developer William A. Wilson as this country's representative to the Holy See.

The vote on the nomination was 81-13. Wilson, 69, has been Reagan's part-time personal representative to the Vatican since 1981.

The United States had no diplomatic relation with the Vatican from 1867 until last November, when Congress repealed the law that had forbidden appropriations to maintain a U.S. diplomatic mission at the Vatican.

Relations were formally reestablished Jan. 10.

Geology topic of two lectures

Two lectures about geologists and their fields will be presented Thursday and Friday.

Geography/geology instructor Gary Wallace said Richard Bloomer, a Texas geologist, will be at Eastern to discuss how geologists operate within the petroleum industry in a lecture titled, "Philosophy of a Petroleum Geologist."

He added that Bloomer will also discuss a drilling program and the Permian Basin, an area in Texas where Bloomer works.

In the second lecture, titled, "Channel Sandstones," Bloomer will discuss how oil and gas accumulate in channel stone deposits, Wallace said.

The "Philosophy of a Petroleum Geologist" lecture is scheduled to be conducted at 7 p.m. Thursday in room 222 of the Science Building.

The second lecture is scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday in room 332 of the Science Building.

A cancellation of another concert date served as the force bringing the Oak Ridge Boys to Eastern Saturday.

UB Concert Coordinator John Karol said, "The band's agent contacted us, whereas we usually contact them."

"As it turned out, the band had to cancel one of its concerts in another city and had an open date," he noted. "It isn't often that a big band has an open date and decides to call us."

Standard procedure for getting groups to perform on campus is to talk to an agent, get UB approval and to sign an contract, he added.

"We are looking at this concert... to keep us in the black and provide a way to get a couple more groups to perform before the end of the semester," Karol said.

Bringing the Oak Ridge Boys to Eastern will cost about $40,000, he said. The board must sell 3,400 to 3,500 tickets to clear $40,000.

Currently, Karol said Wednesday, 3,045 of the 5,800 available tickets have been sold for the concert.

Tickets for the concert cost $12.50 and are available at the University box office, Mr. D's, 405 Lincoln Ave., Eisner Food Store, 612 W. Lincoln Ave. and Mazuma Records and Tapes, 1406 Sixth St.

The Oak Ridge Boys will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday in Lantz Gym.

Student Senate to hold special OCSHA meeting

by Nancy Bridges

The Student Senate Wednesday did not vote on a proposal to change the Off-Campus Student Housing Association to a student board, but instead scheduled a special meeting to discuss the fate of OCSHA.

The senate's housing committee will address any possible changes in OCSHA's format at the meeting.

A plan authored by Student Body President John Cole and senator Ed Blakemore, which recommended that OCSHA be transformed into a student board, was not acted on by the senate.

Senators asked questions concerning the proposal; however debate was postponed until the housing committee discusses alternatives for OCSHA's restructuring.

Senate Speaker Ron Wesel said the meeting to discuss the recommendations is scheduled for 2 p.m. Monday in the Union addition Oakland room.

Wesel said that after the housing committee meets, he expects that OCSHA will be formed into an agency.

If OCSHA is restructured as an agency, OCSHA would be controlled by the senate and its constitution and bylaws.

However, OCSHA would still maintain control over daily operations, he added.

The senate has the power to form an agency, but has never exercised this power before.

He added that OCSHA's "duties are never going to be taken away," because the senators recognize the need for the services OCSHA provides.

In other business, the senate discussed and approved its Fiscal Year 1985 budget, which will be sent to the Apportionment Board for approval.

The budget proposal includes expenditures for OCSHA in its current form and also includes funds for a monthly half-page senate newsletter, which will appear in the Daily Eastern News.

In other business, the senate tabled a request for financial support for the Buddy Button security system.

Wesel, who entertained a motion to donate $50 to the Buddy Button system, said $50 is the maximum amount available in the senate budget for a donation.

However, the senate tabled the motion because Keith Cornille, who proposed the system, was not at the meeting to explain how the money would be used.

Young tutors help children

ATLANTA, Ill. (AP)—Youth is no barrier to being a good teacher. Just ask the children who have become better readers because of tutoring they received from their more knowledgeable elders—eighth graders.

Under the Atlanta Cross—Age Tutor Program started three years ago in this Logan County town's Olympia school district, eighth-grade student volunteer to help younger children build reading skills.

The idea seems to work, says Sandra Snyder, a district instructor who launched the program.

Reason for teenager's death unknown

by Matthew Krasnowski

Although the death of Charleston resident Kathleen Howard, 17, has been labeled "highly suspicious," the exact cause of her death is still unknown, Coles County Coroner Dick Lynch said Wednesday.

Howard's body was found at about 6 p.m. Friday in her parents' converted-garage apartment at 1113½ Division St.

"The manner of death was not accidental or natural, but the cause of the death is not known," Lynch said.

Lynch noted that there was a "slight cut" discovered on Howard's forehead. He added that there were no other external bruises.

"The reason the incident is highly suspicious, I think, will come out when the autopsy report is released," he added.

Coles County State's Attorney Nancy Owen said Wednesday that the death is being investigated as a "possible homicide."

The investigation, being conducted by the Charleston Police Department, with assistance from the Mattoon Police Department, the Coles County Sheriff's Department and the Illinois Department of Law, is continuing, she said.

Lynch said the cause of Howard's death is unknown because autopsy results have not been released. The autopsy was conducted by Dr. Grant Johnson in conjunction with the Illinois State Crime Lab at the Springfield Memorial Medical Center.

The lack of an autopsy report will "not necessarily slow down investigation. Autopsy results normally take two weeks," he said.

Autopsy results will be released in the "latter part of next week," he added.

In addition, the Decatur Herald & Review reported Tuesday that authorities questioned Howard's ex-husband, Charles Lee Howard, this past weekend. Howard, 33 of Oakland, is currently a patient at Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center.

Owen said Howard's 1-year-old daughter is in being cared for.

Small businesses employ minorities, unemployed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Small businesses are more likely than large firms to hire women, the young and older workers. They also don't mind letting their employees work part-time. And they don't shun the unemployed when looking at job-seekers.

These are some of the findings of a new study by the Small Business Administration that is scheduled for release later this month.

The analysis, the first to take a look at the characteristics of the labor force by size of firm, found that two out of three new workers land their first job with a small business.

Frank Swain, chief counsel for advocacy of the Small Business Administration, says the fresh study underscores the important role of small firms—those with less than 100 employees—in the economy.

"This demonstrates small businesses play a critical role in absorbing new workers into the workforce and providing the first job experience and initial training for two out of three workers," he said in a recent interview.

The study includes information from a variety of sources but mostly is based on a 1979 survey the Census Bureau conducted of about 60,000 households. The interviews are considered representative of the nation's workforce.

Music department honors composer Charles Griffes

by Diane Schneiderman

In honor of American composer Charles Griffes' 100th birthday, Eastern's music department will be performing "The Music of Charles Griffes."

Music instructor George Sanders said 12 students and four faculty members will perform piano and vocals.

"This performance is unique in that it is a program where students and faculty are combining to present it," Sanders said.

Sanders added that another factor which makes this concert unique is the music which will be performed, because although Griffes' music is American, European influences can be seen in his compositions.

"His early pieces were post-Dramatic," Sanders said, reflecting the style of Brahms and Strauss.

Later, Griffes began performing music which was heavily Impressionistic, Sanders said. "It's music that has an image that it's trying to present," he added.

For example, "He often wrote music and then put poems with it," Sanders noted.

In his last period of music, Sanders said, Griffes developed his own style. "It's more abstract and austere."

However, what really sets Griffes apart from other composers is that, "he was one of the first American composers with an American style."

The performance will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Dvorak Concert Hall.

Broadcast fraternity to regroup

by Julie Jackson

Alpha Epsilon Rho, a broadcasting fraternity, has recently reorganized at Eastern to help benefit speech-communication majors and students interested in broadcasting, Jennifer Adkins, fraternity president, said.

Adkins said John Beabout, Radio and TV Center director, suggested that the fraternity reorganize. She said Beabout had seen how Alpha Epsilon Rho benefited other schools such as Southern Illinois University.

Adkins said, "We are trying to reorganize and we are literally starting from scratch. Right now we are writing up our chapter constitution."

Currently, the chapter has about 25 members. "We still have people who are not yet sure if they want to be committed to the fraternity," she said.

Adkins added that the fraternity is looking for students interested in extra curricular activities because it is a service fraternity. In addition, a 2.7 grade point average overall is required.

The fraternity hopes to plan a career day this semester and would also like to obtain guest speakers in professional broadcasting, she said.

Previously, Eastern had a chapter of Alpha Epsilon Rho, but it was disbanded in 1969 because the organization was not effective, Adkins said.

Ken Hadwiger, speech-communication instructor, was head of the organization in 1969, but left the group after accepting an administrative position at Eastern.

"We did not feel the organization provided the advantages to the members for the money we paid to the national chapter," he said.

Eastern wins RHA Spirit Award

Eastern's Residence Hall Association recently received the Spirit Award during the Illinois Residence Hall Association conference conducted this weekend at the University of Illinois.

Jenny West, Eastern's RHA national communication coordinator, said, "The award is given to the school with the most enthusiasm."

RHA President Joe Wheeler said the conference serves as a leadership training and information exchange for residence associations throughout Illinois.

Eastern sent 34 delegates to the conference which 265 participants from various Illinois schools attended.

To capture the award, Eastern's RHA participated in the talent and slide presentations.

West said she is very excited about winning the award, adding, "It's a great honor for Eastern's RHA to win this award."

Wheeler said he "knew we were going to win this award with the good group of people" Eastern had attending the convention.

Stenmark closes on front runner

Vail Colo.(AP)—Ingemar Stenmark of Sweden gained ground Wednesday on World Cup overall points leader Pirmin Zurbriggen, scoring a vital giant slalom victory on Vail Mountain.

The race was the last World Cup appearance of twins Phil and Steve Mahre, the United States' finest male skiers over the past eight years.

The triumph was the 79th of Stenmark's career, but more importantly it earned him 16 points in his battle to catch Zurbriggen, the Swiss skier who had added 24 points to his total in the last three World Cup races in the United States while Stenmark has been unproductive.

Stenmark now has 217 overall points, while Zurbriggen, who did not add points despite his second-place finish Wednesday, has 283. Stenmark also edged into first place in the giant slalom standings with 111 points to Zurbriggen's 110.

Stenmark, fifth after the first GS run down the long, 61-gate course, had the fastest second-run time—a blistering 1 minute, 22.25 seconds—to finish with a combine time of 2:50.52.

Zurbriggen, fourth after the initial heat, finished second in 2:53.43.

Hans Enn of Austria was third in 2:51.69, and Max Julen of Seitzerland, the Olympic giant slalom gold medalist, was fourth in 2:51.74.

Steve Mahre of Yakima, Wash., the first-run leader, faded to ninth place after the second heat.

"It was a good course for me, and running No.1 in the second run was perfect," said Stenmark. "The giant slalom hill here is one of the best I've ever skied on, and the snow conditions were perfect."

Mahre said he "just tried too hard" the second run. "I was too precise and didn't let my skies run."

Mahre's twin brother, Phil, was far back in 24th position agter the first run and finished 19th.

It was the final World Cup appearance by the Mahres. Phil, a three-time overall champion, had said that Wednesday's race would be the last of his brilliant career. Steve had indicated he might compete but he, too, said Wednesday's race was it.

"It just wasn't supposed to happen for me today," said Phil Mahre, 26, who won the Olympic slalom but has suffered through a disappointing World Cup season.

Boris wins suit following waive

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Bob Boris, who won a suit last week that paved the way for football underclassmen to turn professional, was cut Wednesday by the Oklahoma Outlaws of the United States Football League.

The rookie punter, whose action in a 17-14 overtime loss to the Denver Gold Saturday disappointed his coaches, was waived with three other players as the team cut its roster to the USFL's 40-man limit.

"He's got the ability to be a professional punter," said Tim Mills, who coaches Outlaws kickers. "We felt with the things that have happened—the lawsuit, missing the snap and not getting another kick off—the fans would have made it very difficult for him to punt here. If he went ahead and had a bad day, it might destroy his confidence forever."

Lady cagers cap off season with 65-57 win

by Jeff Long

It was a going away party of sorts for Eastern's women's basketball team Wednesday night in Lantz Gym.

First, the Panthers honored guard Jodi Corson, who was playing the final game of her Eastern career.

The Panthers then proceeded to make it a bigger party, capping off their regular season in fine fashion with a 65-57 victory over league foe Indiana State University.

"We wanted to give Jodi a nice going away present," Eastern head coach Bobbi Hilke said. "We played very enthused and really got into the game."

Although Corson scored only six points during the night, the Baggs, Wyo. native said her team just wanted to have fun in its season finale.

"We said in the locker room we would just go out and have some fun," Corson said. "After a four-game losing streak, we were hoping to go out on a good note."

Turnovers were once again a deciding factor for the Panthers. This time, however, it was the team's lack of turnovers that gave them the win.

In its two previous games, the Panthers committed a whopping 60 turnovers, which left them with two lopsided losses.

But Wednesday the Panthers used precision passing and a ball-control offense while committing only 18 turnovers. In addition, Eastern recorded 14 steals on the night.

"We used a sideline-fast break tonight, which got the ball in quicker," Hilke said. "It didn't give them (Indiana State) many steal opportunities at mid-court."

Panther guard Melanie Hatfield, who led Eastern scorers with 19 points while dishing off a team-high seven assists, said it was a special night for herself and her teammates.

"We pulled for everyone tonight," the sophomore said. "Since it was Jodi's last game, we decided we'd have fun."

Eastern got off to a quick start Wednesday, scoring the first eight points. In the process, the Panthers held Indiana State scoreless for the first four minutes of the game.

Eastern then increased its margin to 20-8 on a Hatfield jumper at 12:28.

However, the Sycamores closed the gap to 31-25 when Kim Kellar tipped in a rebound with 3:56 remaining in the first half. Kellar, who tossed in 14 points, accounted for the Sycamores' last 12 points in the first half.

But Pat Hamilton's layup off a Hatfield steal with 15 seconds to go in the half left the Panthers with a 39-29 halftime edge.

Eastern increased its advantage to as much as 18 points in the second half as Hatfield and Chris Aldridge played give-and-go and the Panthers led 51-35 with 14:29 remaining.

But seven consecutive baskets by the Sycamores' Amy Hile brought Indiana State deficit down to ten with 8:05 to go.

Hile, who is a top candidate for the league's rookie of the year honor, led all scorers with 26 points—20 of those coming in the second half.

The win gave Eastern a 16-12 overall season record, 10-7 in the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference, which gives the Panthers fifth in the league.

Mid-court hassles

Eastern's Pat Hamilton receives some pressure from Indiana State's Kristi Grooms as she brings the ball up court Wednesday night at Lantz Gym. The Panthers went on to win 65-57 and conclude their regular season with a 10-7 league record and 16-12 overall. (News photo by Brian Ormiston)

No deal reached to move NFL Colts

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Reports that a deal was reached Wednesday to bring the Baltimore Colts to Indianapolis are "absolutely not true," Indianapolis Mayor William Hudnut said, and efforts continued to keep the National Football League team from moving.

Maryland Gov. Harry Hughes said late Wednesday that he expects the state to be able to offer Colts owner Robert Irsay a privately-subsidized $15 million loan within 24 hours.

Hughes said the state also was assembling an aid package to relieve Irsay of the financial burden of operating a training center north of Baltimore.

Both offers are designed to match incentives reportedly given to Irsay to get him to move his team to Indianapolis.

"We're trying everything that is reasonable that is within the law," Hughes said.

Meanwhile, Baltimore Mayor William Schaefer said he was told by team owner Robert Irsay that no deal would be signed Wednesday. Schaefer said Irsay, in Chicago, told him by phone he would meet with Schaefer next week to discuss improvements to Memorial Stadium in Baltimore.

Schaefer said the two sides would keep working on a deal for low-interest loans and other matters and that he was seeking the help of Maryland's governor, Legislature and local businessmen in the bid to keep the team from moving.

If the move is made, the Indianapolis team would play in the new 61,300-seat Hoosier Dome. The facility, built in hopes of luring an NFL expansion franchise, is scheduled to open in May.

"We wanted to be considered for a franchise," Hudnut said. "But because of legal problems between the NFL and the Raiders over the team's move to Los Angeles, it looks like the league won't expand until the next decade."

But those same legal problems may help bring the Colts here. The Raiders ruling recently was upheld by the 9th U.S. District Court of Appeals in San Francisco.

The NFL says it will appeal the ruling to the U.S. Supreme Court but that it would not obstruct any move by a current owner to another city until it wins that right in court.

Sox rout Detroit 9-3, Burns gives up one hit

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Greg Walker and Ron Kittle each had three hits and drove in two runs Wednesday to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 9-3 exhibition victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Chicago starter Britt Burns gave up only one hit—a double by John Wockenfuss—in three innings of work as the White Sox won their third Grapefruit League game without a defeat. Detroit slipped to 0-2.

In the White Sox first, Scott Fletcher singled and went to second when Larry Herndon bobbled the ball in left field for an errror. Fletcher moved to third on a grounder by Jerry Hairston and scored on a grounder by Walker.

Tom Paciorek singled in the White Sox second, Kittle doubled and both scored on Marc Hills' single off Detroit starter Dan Petry, 0-1.

The White Sox picked up another run in the fifth, two in the sixth and two in the seventh.

Lance Parrish and Herndon picked up RBIs in the two-run Tiger fourth and Herndon belted a home run over the right field fence in the sixth.

Cards fall to Red Sox

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP)—Jeff Newman, Marty Barrett and Lee Graham belted homers, and rookie Jackie Gutierrez lined two triples Wednesday, powering the Boston Red Sox to a 10-7 exhibition victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Barrett tied the score 7-7 with a wind-blown two-run homer off the right-field screen about 360 feet from the plate after Gutierrez led off the seventh with triple to deep center.

Baseball Panthers looking to overcome inexperience

by Jeff Long

Baseball head coach Tom McDevitt will be dealing with a young and inexperienced squad when the Panthers step onto the diamond this season.

Gone from the Panther team that went 22-12 last year are the .400-plus batting averages of Kevin Seitzer and Neil Bertram, as well as last year's pitching aces, Kevin Gordon and Marshall Crutcher.

"Our weakness this season is that we are predominately a freshman and sophomore squad," McDevitt said. "Inexperience is the problem you run into with freshmen and sophomores."

McDevitt said the loss of last season's top pitchers will force him to go with youth on the pitching staff. The Panthers have no senior pitchers, and only one junior returning this season. Three sophomores have already been penciled onto the starting rotation.

"It's tough to compete against experienced teams when you have freshmen and sophomores," McDevitt said. "But it appears our pitching staff will be strong."

The seven-year head coach added that the pitchers will be backed up by a tough defense, which may turn out to be the Panthers' strongest area.

"Only time will tell, but defense could be the best part of our game this year," McDevitt said.

Baseball

The Panthers return senior Brian Jones, who will be switching from shortstop over to second base. Jones played shortstop his three previous years, but McDevitt is optimistic about the move.

"Brian Jones is the best second baseman in the state," he said. "I'd be willing to match him against anybody."

Eastern will also be bolstered by the addition of outfielder Monty Aldrich from Olney Community College. McDevitt hinted that Aldrich will probably start in center field.

"Except for Aldrich in center, the outfield is up for grabs," McDevitt said. "Who plays in the outfield will depend on who's pitching against us."

But with the Panthers' inexperience, McDevitt said hitting is the area he is most concerned about.

"Our players won't be the hitters now that they will be in a couple of years," McDevitt said. "It just doesn't come overnight."

Switch-hitter Steve Hall will lead the Panthers' offensive attack, which compiled a .364 team average last season while averaging more than eight runs.

Lady netters boost image with aggressive new style

by Dobie Holland

After a dismal 0-10 season last year, Eastern's women's tennis team hopes some improved play can boost its image among Gateway Collegiate Athletic foes this spring.

Although the Panthers will field another young squad, first-year head coach Gail Richard is optimistic about the season.

Richard said having a young team will enable her to teach her players to adapt to a more aggressive game plan.

"We have a young team of the ten players; there no seniors, four juniors, three sophomores and three freshman," she said.

"Expect the 1984 edition of the women's tennis team to charge the net and sting service aces more frequently as they shed their cocoons of the baseline volley mode," she added.

Women's tennis

Apparently, the netters have taken Richard's philosophy with open arms. During the fall exhibition season, the Panthers compiled a 4-2 record.

However, competition within the GCAC could be still too much for the Panthers to swallow, Richard cautioned. "We really should peak within the next two years, she said.

The Panthers open league play March 16-17 when they compete in a quadrangular at Bradley University in Peoria. GCAC foes Drake University and St. Ambrose College will round out the field.

Eastern's first home date is slated for April 3 against Principia College at the Triad Courts.

Solid softball mount unit could key a GCAC crown

by Kathy Leahy

Eastern's softball Panthers have set one very important goal for themselves this season—to capture the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference crown.

"The conference is one of our major goals this season," Panther head coach Deanna D'Abbraccio said. "It is very important to us that we progress and improve with each game in preparation for conference."

"The conference is wide open this year," she continued. "The fall season proved that anyone can beat anyone on a given day—so we have a real good shot at it."

The Panthers, who placed third in last season's 10-team post-season tournament and notched a 20-10 record, will return several key players.

Returning to the Eastern lineup is senior standout Mary Tiegs, who boasted a .357 batting average last season while leading the Panthers in stolen bases with 11.

"We are going to rely heavily on Mary this season. She is our biggest offensive threat," D'Abbraccio said.

In addition, pitchers Donna Ridgway and Sandy Muskopf return. Ridgway led the Panther hurlers last season with a 9-4 mark and an impressive 1.11 earned run average.

"We have a solid pitching staff this season," D'Abbraccio said. "We have Donna and Sandy, plus we have two good new pitchers in Shelly Eddington and Sonja Rhoda."

However, the Panthers will be without the services of All-Americans catcher Kelly Waldrup, pitcher Kathy Richards and shortstop Nancy Kassebaum from last season's squad.

"We have lost three very good players in Kelly, Nancy and Kathy," D'Abbraccio said. "They will be difficult to replace."

"However, I think we'll have a strong infield despite the losses and I think we are more than capable of putting together a good season," she continued. "We have some new players, like Tangi Waldrup and Kathy Range, but they are experienced."

"Overall, I'd say this season's team will have great cohesiveness and a great enthusiasm," D'Abbraccio added. "I'm expecting a good season."

Linksmen swing for title; Western could block path

by Marc McMullen

When Eastern's men's golf team tees off this spring, the Panthers will aim for their first Association of Mid-Continent Universities' championship.

"Our major goal this spring is to win the AMCU conference championship," Eastern coach Kevin Anglin said.

"This is the first time since I can remember that we hosted the tournament; so we have to be one of the favorites to win," he added.

But Anglin said intrastate rival Western Illinois University is probably the only team which could stand in the Panthers' way come May 1.

"Western has won the AMCU championship the last four years," he said. "It seems like they are always strong when it comes down to the big one."

However, the Panthers will have to dethrone the defending champion Leathernecks with a younger squad.

"We are very young," Anglin said. "We don't have any seniors on the squad this season."

Juniors Brent Richardson and Brett

Golf

Herrin and sophomore Ron Huffman are the top three returnees for Eastern this season.

"I'm looking for a lot of help out of Richardson, Herrin and Huffman," Anglin said. "These guys played really consistently during the fall."

Sophomore Mitch Myers will be the only unfamiliar name on the score card when Eastern starts its spring season.

"Mitch is the only new addition to our squad and I think he will help us a lot," Anglin said. "He is also one of our longer hitters on the team."

The Panthers' first test of the season will be the April 6-7 Southern Illinois-Edwardsville Invitational, which will be the start of a "very competitive schedule."

"I tried to schedule a match every week," Anglin said. "By doing that, hopefully, by the end of the season our squad will be well rested for the conference championship."

Men netters set to defend first AMCU championship

by Frank Polich

Eastern's men's tennis team moves outdoors in search of its second-straight league title.

"Repeating as conference champions and staying above 50 percent in dual meets are the main goals this season," Eastern head coach Carl Sexton said.

"Last year our goal was to win the league and we did that plus our 18 wins was the most in the school's history," he added. "That's the kind of year you hate to see end."

Three-time letter winners Jay Johnson and Rob Hopkins return to the Panther lineup, while junior Scott Fjelstad and senior Mark Emola give the Panthers a solid top four.

Johnson, who finished second in the Association of Mid-Continent Universities Conference last year, will open the Panther spring camp as No. 1 player for the fourth-straight season.

"If Jay gets his racquet on the ball, most of the time it will get over to the other court," Sexton, the AMCU 1983 'Coach of the Year,' said.

Johnson, an all-conference selection, compiled a 12-10 singles record last season which boosted his career mark to 25-36.

However, Fjelstad, with a 16-2 slate, enters the season as the Panthers' top winner and returning Most Valuable Player.

Men's tennis

The junior, who has a 24-14 career mark, won the AMCU No. 6 singles and teamed up with former Panther Bruce Perrin to win the No. 3 doubles crown.

Rob Hopkins, the Panthers' No. 2 singles player, returns with a league title under his belt despite a dismal 8-13 dual-meet record last year.

"Rob is a tremendous competitor—never blown off the court, always in the match," Sexton said.

Emola, a reserve last year, will get his first chance at winning the Panthers' No. 4 position, Sexton said. The senior had an 8-5 dual-meet record in 1983.

"Although we have some strong returning players, our freshmen will definitely contribute if we are to make a difference in the end," Sexton noted.

Junior Steve Albright and senior Dan Patrick are among the players challenging for starting positions before Saturday's league opener.

The Panthers will host Western Illinois University at 9 a.m. and conclude play at 3:30 p.m. against University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Balanced strength to aid men trackster campaign

by Mike Nelson

Balanced scoring carried Eastern's men's track team to a second-place indoor-league finish, but the move outdoors could be even brighter for the Panthers.

"It appears at this time we'll be a balanced scoring team," Eastern head coach Neil Moore said. "We should be strong in the weight events," Moore said.

"We will have more depth in some areas than in others," the 10th-year coach added. "We will be a better team outdoors than indoors."

The Panthers and the University of Northern Iowa are again the frontrunners for the Association of Mid-Continent Universities title.

Northern Iowa outlasted the Panthers in this winter's indoor title meet and last spring's conference finale.

Eastern assistant coach Tom Akers said, "We really gave them a scare this year at the conference indoor meet; so we are preparing ourselves to win the championship this year."

Dan Matas and Rick Francis, who broke Eastern indoor records this winter, are expected give the team an added boost in the outdoor weight events.

Meanwhile, Francis, the Panther 35-pound weight throw record holder, is entering his best outdoor season. The senior and two-time letterman broke his record twice during indoor competition.

However, the weight events are not the Panthers' lone strengths. Junior standout Claude Magee, a potential NCAA championship qualifier, leads a solid Eastern sprint group.

Magee, who qualified to Saturday's NCAA indoor meet in the 60-yard dash, holds Eastern's 100-meter dash record (10.25).

Women tracksters strive for improvement outdoors

by Dobie Holland

With the indoor season behind them, Eastern's women's track team is seeking to improve upon its fifth place standing as the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference opens its outdoor season.

Eastern's head coach, John Craft, said the addition of such outdoor events as the javelin and discus throw, along with the 10,000 meter run, has his squad anxious to begin competing.

This season will mark the final competition for senior standout tracksters Barbaro Hines, Barbara Hudson, Renee Johnson, and All-American

Women's track

Gail Stephens.

Craft said this year's squad will also feature youth in the lineup. Freshmen talents Lauren Lynch, Debbie Zubik, and Beth Smith are expected to be top performers for Eastern this season.

The Panthers' first competition on what Craft termed "a very good schedule" will be March 17 when they travel to Cape Girardeau, Mo. to compete in a quadrangular hosted by Southeast Missouri State University.
